Summary

- ↪ The Bulgarian Stock Exchange – Sofia (BSE) changed the composition of its official indexes. The shift led to higher turnover on most positions affected by the change.
- ↪ US stock markets ended their best September since the Great Depression, as fears of a double-dip recession were temporarily subdued.
- ↪ The National Statistical Institute (NSI) released its first quarterly data about country's Gross Domestic Product (GDP), which showed an increase of 0.5% in Q2 compared to the previous quarter.

Indices

- ↪ Stocks in the USA chalked up the best September in 71 years, but the Bulgarian Stock Exchange – Sofia (BSE) and most markets in the region posted modest gains.
- ↪ A new composition of BSE's official indexes came into effect on September 20. This led to intensified sales of components leaving the indexes and growing demand for shares of entering companies. SOFIX lost 0.47% for the month, while the other indexes ended positive. BG REIT, the index for real estate companies, advanced by 2.80%.
- ↪ The Turkish stock market surged by 9.67% on the information that country's GDP soared at an annual rate of 10.3% in the second quarter of 2010.

World markets

- ↪ The battle for currency depreciations among world's top economies intensified in September. Bank of Japan (BoJ) sold its own currency to stem its rapid rise against the US dollar. In another move, BoJ slashed interest rates to virtually zero in order to stimulate country's faltering economy. The Reserve Bank of Australia kept interest rates unchanged, although most market analysts expected an increase. Some emerging markets like Brazil, China and Korea also entered the international currency war, trying to devalue their currencies and to stimulate their exports.
- ↪ Prices of soft commodities stepped down from their highs in August. In the USA milling wheat closed at USD 6.74 per bushel, down from USD 8.40 a month ago. Crude oil rose from USD 71.74 per barrel in the end of August to USD 79.75.
